About the Mexico City Study Abroad Program

This program, offered by the School of Education and the Study Abroad Program, is a unique opportunity for students to examine educational issues in the context of Mexico and study the Spanish language for three weeks in Mexico City. During the time in Mexico City, students will take one or two Education courses and study Spanish language at La Universidad LaSalle. This urban campus has a student population of about 10,000 and is located in Colonia Condesa, a popular residential and commercial area. Students are housed with Mexican host families. This housing option allows students to continue practicing Spanish outside of the classroom while learning about Mexican culture. Students are provided two meals per day, as well as a weekly linen service. The program fee covers housing, two meals per day, medical insurance, and some excursions. Tentative dates: June 14-July 4.

What: Partial scholarship to cover a portion of the program fee (excluding tuition and travel). The scholarship is intended for students with financial need.

Who: All undergraduate and graduate School of Education students in good standing who are currently enrolled in any one of the School of Education programs are eligible to apply for the scholarship
